There are in the city any number of old 'varsity players, some of whom have obtained their experience on the crack teams of the country.

The result of the conference was the decision to launch a team, not as an experiment, but with the intention of making if permanent, if sufficient interest is taken. The aggregation will be known as the University Club Foot Ball team, and will be a counterpart of the club's base ball team The games will take place at the University park, at Twentleth and Miami streets.

The team is to be organized at once. The grounds of the Omaha Lawn Tennis association at Twenty-third and Harney streets have been obtained for purposes of practice The first lineup will occur this afternoon on the grounds, and all foot ball players who report there at 5 o'clock, or as soon there-

Frank Crawford states that he has already arranged a partial schedule for the season. A number of games are to be played with the local High school team, and with the Field club team of Council Bluffs. The latter is something of an eleven, as its line-up includes nine ex-varsity players. Games are also likely with Tarkio college, Wesleyan, Doane, and possibly the State University team, and also with the Denver Athletic club. If possible, the season will wound up with another try at Butte.

Some material may be obtained from the University base ball team, as Bittinger, Jelon, Lawler and Haze have signified their intention of trying for positions. In addi-tion, the following, who have had more or less experience, are available: Thomas, Crawford, Jefferis, Cross, Taylor, Purvis, Coleman, Kennedy, Learned, Swobe, Cowin, Abbott, Prickard, Polcar and some of the members of the present High school team.

The three girls have been positively identified by Mrs. A. C. Murphy, 514 South Eleventh street, as the persons who went through her pockets last Saturday during the Wild West parade, and stole from her a pocketbook containing a little more than $5. They were arrested upon descriptions given by Mrs. Murphy. It is believed that the same girls picked the pockets of Mrs. Vachtler, 3119 California street, of $5 in the same manner and at the same time. A search warrant was issued for the premises occupied by the girls, in the hope that the missing pecketbooks might be found, but they were not located.

Two of the girls, Mary and Annie, have a record in police circles already. They have just been released from the reform school where they spent the last three years. They were arrested for burglary, which they appeared to have carried on on a very large scale. When their residence was searched property which had been taken from four teen or fifteen different houses was found. By the arrest a mystery was solved, as the police had been working on the theory that the burglaries had been committed by a Few Aspirants for Nominations on the Democratic City Ticket.

LIVELIEST TIME IN THE THIRD WARD

Indications that Democrats and Populists Will Fuse in the Nomination of Some of the Ward Councilmen.

The democratic city primaries will be held Wednesday, and while there is lacking the exciting contests furnished by the republican primaries, there are one or two fights that promise to make the event interesting in two or three wards. NAMED BY THE REPUBLICANS

Men Placed Before the People by City Convention. The men who were nominated for places n the city council at the republican city convention, held last Saturday night, are with one or two exceptions, known to the majority of the voters. Some of them have held official positions before, while others have been successful business men.

Cracker is connected with the Pacific Express company and enjoys the reputation of being one of the most popular men in the Eighth ward. This is his first experience as a candidate, but he has always been an active hustler for republican interests. George Mercer is now a candidate for his second term. He is the youngest man or the ticket and is engaged in the wholesale drug manufacturing business. The candidates for the Board of Education are most of them equally familiar to the voters. H. J. Penfold has never held office. His name was presented by the Fourth wars as a candidate for the legislature last month but he falled to secure the nomination. He is a druggist, has been prominently identified with the Commercial club and especially with the knights of Ak-Sar-Ben. I. O. Rhoades is now president of the Board of Education. LIKELY TO ASSEMBLE IN DECEMBER

Members of the Omaha Exchange Suggest Some Amendments that . Should Be Made to the Laws of the State.

The matter of holding a convention of real estate men from all parts of the state formed the chief topic for discussion at the regular meeting of the Real Estate exchange money, McKinjey and Hobart manifested at the Commercial club rooms yesterday. The itself frequently in vociferous cheers. A. subject was brought up by the report of the committee appointed at the last meeting to propose a plan for organizing the movement This committee consisted of Mcssrs. Reed Smith, George, Charlton and Wallace. The report recommended the holding of a convention some time early in December. I was suggested by the report that correspond ence be opened with real estate men i Lincoln, Beatrice, Hastings, Grand Island, Fremont, Columbus, Nebraska City, Norfolk, McCook, Kearney and North Platte, and that the real estate men in those cities be requested to consider the matter, and, I favorable to the project, appoint one of their number to act as a member of an executive committee of twelve, which should issue a call for a convention, after determining upon the time and place for holding the meeting. The report also recommended that among the matters to be brought before this convention for consideration should be the adoption of a uniform system of recording and conveying property, the Torreus system of titles, uniformity in commissions, fees for appraising property, legislation as to landlord and tenant, amendment of the fore closure laws, etc.

The report was adopted and the commit-tee was empowered to correspond with the cities named in its report and get the movement started if it met with favor. Chief of Detectives Cox was present, upor invitation of the exchange, and was requested to throw some light upon the law and practice as relating to the prevention of despoiling of vacant houses. He talked for some time on this subject, informing the members of the exchange that, unde the laws of Nebraska, the stealing of lead the laws of Nebraska, the stealing of lead pipe or anything else from an unoccupied house was nothing more serious than trespazs, and that the police judge could not sentence a person convicted of such acts for anything more serious than a mindemeanor. Mr. Cox suggested that the exchange should take action looking toward securing laws making such depredations a felony. He also urged that laws be secured which would provide for a workhouse and empower the police judge to sentence vagrants to such a place for one year. He predicted that such action would do more toward ridding the city of undesirable oward ridding the city of undesirable characters than anything else that could be
